In either case STO may, at its own discretion, request from the supplier payment of either (i) the full amount of actual damages (including loss of profits, if any) caused by the delayed delivery or (ii) of liquidated damages, undependable from any fault on the supplier's side and not subject to any judicial adjustment, which, unless otherwise agreed with the supplier in the individual contract, shall be 5% of the total delivery value for each full week of delay and in the maximum 10% of the entire contract value. Acceptance by STO of delayed Supplies shall not be deemed a waiver of any remedies.

6.6. In the event of complaints by STO in respect of delivery dates, delivery terms or delivery volumes the supplier shall immediately take appropriate measures and inform in writing STO within 12 hours accordingly.

6.7. In particular the following circumstances shall be considered as grounds of force majeure if they occur after the conclusion of the contract or, when they have occurred before that time, if their effects were not clearly foreseen before the conclusion, and they prevent, hinder or delay the contractual obligations of STO or a third supplier: war; war risk; insurrection; blockade; requisition; embargo; recruiting up of personnel for military service; currency restrictions; export or import prohibitions or restrictions; restrictions in the use of power; labour conflicts; general shortage of labour, transport and materials; water shortage; fire; flood; storm; obstruction of railways; nondelivery, faulty or delayed delivery of raw materials and other auxiliary materials for the production; internal reduction or cancellation of the Supplies to be made by the supplier to STO by STO's customers; and any other circumstances beyond the control of STO. The supplier may not raise claims of any kind whatsoever against STO on the grounds of such suspension or cancellation. STO shall without delay notify the supplier of the occurrence of a case of force majeure and of its further intention in respect of the contract. In the event of a case of force majeure at the side of a third supplier of STO, STO shall be fully released from its duties of notification towards the supplier by forwarding the notification received from such other supplier. If so necessary the supplier shall at its own cost and risk properly store the Supplies until acceptance by STO.
